JOHN GREESON KILLED.

The Winston Train Kills Another Man Near Pomona.

The freight train that comes in from Winston between nine and ten o'clock at night struck and instantly killed John Greeson, colored, of Pomona, last night. Greeson came to Greensboro yesterday afternoon and those who saw him about dark yesterday evening say he was perfectly sober. It is thought, however, that when he met his death he was intoxicated for surely no sane or sober man would have remained on the track under the same circumstances.

Greeson started home about nine o'clock walking on the railroad track. When about a mile from town he met the freight train coming in from Winston. Greeson was walking on the ends of the cross-ties outside the rails on the side of the track opposite the engineer. The fireman saw him but before he could signal the engineer to stop the train Greeson had been struck and knocked from the track.

The train was stopped as soon as possible but not until it had run about thirty yards beyond where it struck the man. Greeson was knocked some twenty feet and the first man to reach him, less than a minute after he was hit, found him dead.

His body was placed on the train and brought back to town and examined by Dr. Broadnax. The examination showed that the cross piece in front of the engine struck Greeson squarely in the breast. The flesh was slightly torn on the forehead and the right side of the head, but this abrasion is supposed to have been done when the body fell on the ground.

After the examination the body was taken to Pomona by the shifting engine and delivered to Greeson's wife. Greeson was about 45 years old and except for an occasional drunk was a very good man. He was a good workman and for several years was employed by Mr. J. Van Lindley at his nurseries. He is said to have been particularly afraid of the train when drunk and it is supposed that this time he was too drunk to notice it at all. He has been married for sometime and leave a wife but no children.

WON ENOUGH "VICTORIES"

Spaniards Are Now Clamoring For Peace.

SERIOUS CARLISTS UPRISING.

Another Fight on Porto Rican Soil.

The Spaniards Meet With a Defeat—Two Americans Killed.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

Madrid, Aug. 13—The popular opinion in favor of peace at any price has assumed tidal proportions and nothing can stop it. As statesmen declared yesterday, there is not a political man in all Spain strong enough to dare to suggest the continuation of the war. The impression in ministerial circles is that immediately after the protocol all hostilities will cease. This means immediately after the Spanish government has received the protocol signed by M. Cambon, its representative. All the comment last night was upon Premier Sagasta's political triumph and Senor Moret as the coming man.

CAMPAIGN IN PORTO RICO.

Ponce, August 13—General Schwan has occupied Mayaguez taking formal possession of the city without resistance. The Spanish forces have withdrawn to Lares, which place is near Areibo.

General Brooke is at Guayama. The munitions and supplies are being unloaded at Arroyo.

General Wilson is at Coamo awaiting the reinforcements of cavalry and dynamite guns before executing the plans formulated for the advance on Albion.

On Thursday morning there was desultory firing between pickets. This firing continued until late last night and was broken by occasional volleys. The prisoners captured during the day report the force at Albion to be composed of twenty-five hundred Spanish soldiers.

PORTO RICAN FIGHT.

Ponce, Aug. 11—Delayed in transmission—The contemplated flank movement by Second Wisconsin against Spaniards at Abonito has been abandoned by order of General Miles. Officers believe war has ended. General Schwan yesterday encountered three thousand Spaniards near here and Miguro, at the latter place meeting a stubborn resistance from the Spanish. Americans fought well, driving the Spaniards before them. Private Fernberg and one other killed; Lieut. Bryon and fourteen others wounded. It is learned that eleven Spanish killed and sixty wounded in fight at Coamo.

CARLIST UPRISING SERIOUS.

Madrid, August 13—The Carlist uprising in the province Castellan del Aplatina is much more serious than the government likes to admit. Troops are pouring into the district and censorship has been revived in a most vigorous manner. Several of the most advanced newspapers have suspended publication owing to the authorities striking out practically every line of news from their columns.

Democratic Primaries.

Democratic primaries were held in the different precincts throughout the city today. They were moderately well attended. Precinct executive committees and delegates to the county convention were elected. The list of delegates will appear in Monday's paper.

All Sorts of Feet.

All sorts of feet, little feet, big feet, slim feet, thick feet, tender feet, long feet, all find fit, comfort, and durability in our men's and ladies foot-form shoes at Carolina Shoe Company.

Big Tobacco Sale.

Tobacco is rolling into Greensboro by all wagons and trains. The value of this place as a tobacco market is being appreciated and as a result the handlers of the "weed" are kept busy from morning till night.

At the Banner Warehouse this week were sold $700 worth of wrappers shipped here from other markets. This makes over $6000 worth of wrappers from outside markets sold at the Banner in the last six weeks.

New primings are coming in daily and the prices are satisfactory.

A New Shoe.

Our foot-form shoes for men and ladies are the acme of comfort and elegance. Carolina Shoe Co.

THE BAGGAGE COACH AHEAD.

A Touching Incident Which Occurred On The N. & W. Yesterday.

One of those sad and touching incidents which make the "whole world kin," occurred on the passenger train of the Norfolk & Western railroad yesterday. In the baggage coach on a cot lay Mrs. Sarah Bullus and young babe, who were being brought from Christiansburg, Va., to Wilkesboro, in the hope that the mother would regain her health. The trip proved too much for the mother and soon after the train left Martinsville her spirit winged its flight to the golden shore where all is peace and rest.

Mr. and Mrs. Bullus and babe were returning to their home in Wilkesboro and instead of a pleasant and cheerful home-coming, the husband returns to lay to rest the tired body of his loved helpmeet. The sight of the dead mother, the cowering and happy babe, entirely oblivious to the sad blow that deprived it of a mother, the sad and broken-hearted father brought many tears to the eyes of the passengers. All of the passengers offered their services to the bereaved father.

A purse was speedily made up by the crew and passengers of the train with which to buy a coffin and give the woman a respectable burial. The body was taken this morning to Wilkesboro.

New lot ladies' and children's spring heel laced and button shoes at Thacker & Brockmann's. Excellent values at moderate prices.

PEACE.

At last the first step in the direction of peace between this country and the Kingdom of Spain has been taken. The protocol has been signed by Secretary Day and M. Jules Cambon, the French ambassador. This is only a preliminary and simply opens and prepares the way for the commission to settle down to the tedious and difficult task of arranging the details. It is likely that it will require more time to close the war than it has to fight it.

The people generally are well posted on the apparent results of the short struggle. They know of the battles fought and are justly proud of the record made by the American soldier and seaman. These feelings of pride are intermingled with tears of sorrow in North Carolina for the fate of those gallant boys, Bagley and Shipp.

The United States now has a task before it as great or greater than licking the Spaniards. What to do and how to manage what she has gained is the absorbing problem. Sampson and Schley's present isn't giving anybody any immediate concern. It is secure on the bottom of the sea out of harm's way and will not figure much in the councils of the peace commission.

Admiral Dewey's present is far different and Uncle Sam is now diligently studying a treatise on "How to Manage Elephants." The victory at Santiago has been spoiled by allowing the boys to remain there and sicken and die with yellow fever.

General Miles crossed the diamond of Porto Rico in the nick of time and the umpire's verdict will be "Safe."

The fighting is over; but the soldier boys will yet have a long season of camp life, and it will yet be many months before the balance sheet, showing the profit and loss, is presented to the public.

BEHOLD THE PICTURE.

Commenting on a recent editorial in this paper the results of the Russell administration in "unhappy Wilmington" in which we said that other towns in eastern North Carolina suffer in like measure, the Wilmington Dispatch says:

There is no doubt that other towns in eastern North Carolina suffer degradation and shame at the hands of Russell's administration, but it is hard to believe that they suffer in the same measure. Why, we haven't one competent official, that we know of, in the whole city government. We have a mongrel police force, mostly negroes, we believe, that, instead of suppressing crime, rather give to it a moral influence, which promotes it. Never before under democratic regime has there been so many murders, robberies, and other crimes committed than there has been since the advent of the mongrels in Wilmington. When any of the culprits are by accident caught they are generally released on straw bonds and seldom reach the higher courts. Since the opening of the summer season the city has been invested by gangs of robbers that have been committing their depredations by the wholesale, sometimes a half dozen citizens suffering in a single night. Taking all these things into consideration, we can't help from saying God help the town or city that is in the sad plight Wilmington is. Where can it be?

"Talk about inducing foreign capital to come among us! Why you might as well, in Russell's own language, try to induce a capitalist to rent land in hell for a summer resort. Has any southern state become prosperous under republican regime? No, not one. But on the other hand our sister states, South Carolina, Georgia and Alabama are humming with the wheels of machinery and are steadily surging forward under democratic rule.

"Right you are brother, the capitalist's 'have peeped through the window' and have seen enough, and have given us the go-by, leaving us to while our time away contending with the wretched state of affairs with which our state has under Russell-Butlerism."

Electric Bitters.

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed when the languid, exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, constipation, dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. 50c. and $1.00 per bottle at C. E. Holton's drug store.

A PROPHETIC UTTERANCE.

Jefferson Davis's Last Words to His Beloved South.

The Augusta Chronicle has recently printed a short but very striking speech delivered at Mississippi City in 1888, just ten years ago, by Jefferson Davis. It was one of Mr. Davis's last public utterances, for he died the next year. We reproduce it here, not because of the pathos of its reference to the past, but because it pointed with singular clearness and almost prophetic vision to the events of 1898 and the glorious destiny now looming before a thoroughly reunited nation:

"Mr. Chairman and Fellow Citizens: Ah, pardon me, the laws of the United States no longer permit me to designate you as fellow citizens, but I am thankful that I may address you as my friends. I feel no regret that I stand before you this afternoon a man without a country, for my ambition lies buried in the grave of the Confederacy. There has been assigned not only my ambition, but the dogmas upon which that government was based. The faces I see before me are those of young men; had I not known this I would not have appeared before you. Men in whose hands the destinies of our Southland lie, for love of her I break my silence, to speak to you a few words of respectable admonition. The past is dead; let it bury its dead, its hopes and its aspirations; before you lies the future—a future full of golden promise; a future of expanding national glory, before which all the world shall stand amazed. Let me beseech you to lay aside all rancor, all bitter sectional feeling, and to take your place in the ranks of those who will bring about a consummation devoutly to be wished—a reunited country."

Herein is the very phrase, "the future of expanding national glory," which means so much today to south and north alike; the common possession and common incentive in which is the golden promise which Jefferson Davis foresaw.

All the Baileys beyond the Mason's and Dixon's line—if anybody now remembers that imaginary boundary—cannot shut out the south from its part and participation in this future full of golden promise, this future full of expanding national glory, before which all the world shall stand amazed.—New York Sun.

CERVERA AND BLANCO.

The Admiral Hears That Blanco Has Asked for His Removal.

Washington, Aug. 11.—The navy department has telegraphed to Admiral Cervera at Annapolis permission to visit the sick Spanish soldiers of his command at Portsmouth, N. H. He will probably avail himself of the leave in a day or two.

While at the railroad station in Annapolis today, bidding farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Otto Lucius, Admiral Cervera heard, for the first time apparently, of the alleged telegrams which Captain General Blanco was said have sent to Madrid before and after the defeat of the fleet, asking for Cervera's removal and pronouncing him incapable.

"I have known nothing of it," he declared. "If General Blanco occupies his time in traducing me I will pay no more attention to him. I will have nothing more to do with that kind of a man."

"Why do you not justify yourself now before the people of this country and Spain?" was asked. "It might affect your reputation on your return."

"I have no fears as to my reception in Spain," replied the Admiral. "After all this is over there will be a council which will clear up everything. I did my duty up to the last moment and I have no fears as to what the verdict of the people will be."

Commodore Paredes, the second in command of Cervera's squadron, who, with his son, was present, spoke up at this juncture, saying: "But that is a shame. Blanco himself gave us orders to leave at 4 o'clock, knowing very well that we would go to certain destruction. He wanted us at first to leave in the darkness on the night before, but when Admiral Cervera explained the impossibility of doing so, he insisted that we go next day. We knew that we were going to our destruction; not one of us expected to get out alive. But we obeyed orders for the sake of the Spanish flag, and to show that we, too, were able at least to die for country and honor."

Commodore Paredes spoke with some heat, and his words were evidently approved of by his son and young Cervera. The admiral said, however, that he would say nothing against Blanco.

"I shall make my report to competent authorities on my return to Spain," he said, "regardless of attacks, and they shall judge." Admiral Cervera said he had nothing but praise for Admirals Sampson and Schley, and he was constrained to say something, too, in favor of the Cubans, into whose hands they fell at Santiago after their capture. They received the same courteous treatment everywhere.

Tumor In the Breast Cured

Six or seven years ago I had a lump so known to come in my breast which made it swell so much that it became so hard I could not make a dent in the breast. It was so painful and caused me to suffer so that some nights
I could hardly turn in the bed or rest.
Nothing did me any good, and I was very uneasy, not knowing how it would terminate. I used one-half dozen bottles of Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy, without stopping on it, and it made a perfect cure of me. The lump disappeared gradually and I have never had any trouble from it since.

A Work That Will Last.

Dr. J. C. Kilgo, president of Trinity College, preached in the Methodist church Sunday morning and lectured on Christian Education at night. His sermon was on the Fatherhood of God and the Sonship of Christ. Dr.
Kilgo is still a young man, tall and lean, but an orator of rare ability.
His illustrations were plain and simple, full of feeling and inspiration, his thought clear and perspicuous. The people were charmed and many say it was the finest sermon ever preached in Monroe. The lecture was equally as good. Dr. Kilgo has done a great work for Trinity College since he came into North Carolina—a work that will last.

He believes that education without a distinct Christian aim will not preserve this country, that the salvation of the country lies in the hands of those institutions of learning manned by Christian men and where Christianity is taught without apology and practiced with vigor. Dr. Kilgo is full of humor, brave and fearless as a knight of old, with a keen blade that cuts and punctures wherever it strikes.
It is fortunate for North Carolina and very refreshing to hear a man who not only thinks, but thinking does express himself. Monroe will always give him a full house.—Monroe Journal.

MODERN SHRAPNEL.

DEADLY EFFECT OF THIS FEARFUL IMPLEMENT OF WAR.

What Happens When a Single Projectile
Suddenly Bursts Into Two Hundred Separate Messengers of Death—Shells and Solid Shot.

The improvements in modern guns have embraced all calibers, from that of the small arm firing a projectile only one-third of an inch in diameter to the monster which sends a solid piece of steel 12 inches through and weighing over half a ton. Not only have the guns improved, but also all their accessories, especially powder and projectiles. The smokeless powder of the present has changed the conditions of war almost as much as modern armament.

Keeping step with these advances have been those made in the various classes of projectiles. Even the smallest of these, with its case hardened bullet, is far ahead of the old fashioned lead bullet used in the small arms of 80 years ago.

One of the most effective of modern projectiles is the shrapnel. It is one of the forms of case shot. The others were the old fashioned grape and canister. A case shot may be said to be a collection of missiles in a case, which breaks up either in the gun or at some point in flight, thus setting free its death dealing particles.

As soon as the case is broken each of these particles goes on a separate path, and it's a sorry day for the man struck by one of them. All of these falling upon a piece of level ground would mark out an irregular oval, whose area varies with differing conditions. It has been found that the best point to burst the shrapnel is about six yards above and 50 in front of the enemy.

Colonel Shrapnel of the British service first invented shrapnel in 1808. This early form consisted simply of a spherical shell filled with bullets and a bursting charge of powder in the spaces between. This was a crude invention, which scattered the fragments too much and was liable to go off when not expected and not do so when desired.

This form was improved upon during our civil war, and the modern shrapnel can be considered the most dangerous of all life destroying projectiles. It consists of three parts—the tube, the base and the head. The powder charge is in the base, which is firmly attached to the body either by electric welding or by screwing. Leading from the base through the center of the body is a tube which is also filled with powder, which is ignited by the fuse at the point of the shrapnel and carries the fire to the main charge. Between 200 and 300 bullets rest upon a diaphragm just over the powder charge. These are held in place by a matrix of resin which is melted and poured upon the bullets when in place. A skeleton case of cast iron containing receptacles for each bullet is sometimes used instead of the resin.

The head is put on in the same manner as the base, and when the fuse is inserted the projectile is ready for use.
Some shrapnels have the bursting charge in the head instead of the base. The fuse used is rather complicated, but the United States has as good a one as there is. It is a time fuse and in actual test has shown its reliability.

It can readily be seen that one great objection to the shrapnel is its high cost. The fuse alone costs about $3.50.
The same gun is usually supplied with three styles of ammunition—the solid shot, the shell and the shrapnel. Some batteries are also supplied with canister for use at close quarters. The bullets in the canister have a wider dispersion, because the case breaks up in the gun.
Canister was used to repel the famous charge led by the Confederate general Pickett at Gettysburg. A perfect ball of missiles swept the slope leading up to Cemetery Hill, against whose destructive effects human valor was of no avail.

The shell is used to destroy inanimate objects as well as animate ones. It consists of a hollow cast iron shell, with a fuse and bursting charge of powder.
The famous shot fired during the cutting of the cables at Cienfuegos is a good example of its use. The Spaniards having taken refuge in and behind a lighthouse, a shell was fired by one of our ships, which, striking it fairly, burst and utterly destroyed the structure, killing many of the soldiers.

But against men in battle formation the shrapnel is the more effective. It sends a perfect shower of missiles which,
falling in the midst of a company, would almost annihilate it. Many tests have been made to show this.

Shrapnels fired from a gun a mile away in one instance and a mile and two-thirds in the other were made to strike a board target one inch thick.
The fuses were set off by the contact and burst the projectile into 800 or 900 parts, each of which was capable of dealing death to any living thing in its path. Screens were placed at indicated distances behind the target. These may be considered as representing a battalion of infantry in column of companies.
From the number of hits upon all of them the efficiency of shrapnel fire against close order formation may be judged.

In one shot 153 hits were made by a single shrapnel. In another 215 hits are recorded, but these are not so well scattered. Imagine, then, the effect of a well placed shrapnel upon a group of men such as is here represented.

The reader can readily understand why wars are now waged at greater distances and why hand to hand conflicts are almost unheard of.—New York Herald.

BRIEF LOCAL MATTERS.

Rev. R. W. Weaver went to Mebane today.

D. Schenck, Jr., returned from a trip to Alamance county today.

Mrs. Chas. McKnight returned last night from a visit to Reidsville.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Rankin returned from Reidsville last night.

Miss Lizzie Leigh Dick left today for Wrightsville Beach where she will spend sometime.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Johnson left today for a visit to Mrs. Johnson's parents near Siler City.

Mrs. H. H. Merritt returned to her home in Wilmington today after visiting her sister Mrs. W. R. Rankin.

Mrs. W. B. McAdoo, accompanied by her daughter Mary, has returned from Atlantic City, making her last stay of a week at Old Point.

Among those who went to Mt. Vernon Springs today to spend Sunday were: Miss Nannie Weaver, Frank A. Brooks, Miss Annie Brooks, A. G. Stroud and R. M. Albright.

In connection with his excursion next Tuesday Mr. West has arranged for side trip rates to Richmond over the Chesapeake and Ohio railway. Round trip from Norfolk $2.

The policemen at the Southern depot last night discovered four soldiers riding on top of an express car on the vestibule. The men had a box of beer and were having a fine time. How they managed to stick on when the train was running is a question. They belong to the Third cavalry which passed here Thursday night. They got left in Columbia, S. C., and are now beating their way to Montauk Point as best they can. The policemen called them down but three of them boarded another train during the night. The other was here this morning, penniless, but some train men gave him his breakfast. If they do not reach their regiment in ten days from the time they were left they will probably be dealt with as deserters.

Smoke "Sweet Violet" 5c. at Lindau's.

Corporal Adams Dead.

Capt. S. C. Dodson received a telegram today from Jacksonville announcing the sad death of Chase Adams of the "Queen City Guards," now in the First regiment at that place. The telegram was from Corporal Adams' father, Mr. Peter H. Adams, and requested Captain Dodson to make preparations for his son's funeral and burial. He will be buried in Green Hill cemetery. At what hour Captain Dodson does not know, but it will be sometime tomorrow afternoon. Corporal Adams had been sick for a week, but his condition was not considered serious until a short while before his death.

Mr. P. H. Adams passed through here last night from Erie, Pa., enroute to Jacksonville, but his son died before he reached there.

The remains will reach here tomorrow at noon, accompanied by a military escort of four of the dead man's comrades.

Misses' and Children's $1.25 slippers reduced to 75c. at the Carolina Shoe Company. S. B. Norris, manager.

About one month ago my child which is fifteen months old, had an attack of diarrhoea accompanied by vomiting. I gave it such remedies as are usually given in such cases, but as nothing gave relief we sent for a physician and it was under his care for a week. At this time the child had been sick for about ten days and was having about twenty-five operations of the bowels every twelve hours, and we were convinced that unless it soon obtained relief it would not live. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, Diarrhoea Remedy was recommended, and I decided to try it. I soon noticed a change for the better; by its continued use a complete cure was brought about and it is now perfectly healthy.—C. L. Boggs, Stumptown, Gilmer Co., W. Va. For sale by C. E. Holton.
